To our valued clients and friends

RE: Exciting News from CATLab

As your test equipment calibration provider, CATLab has continuously strived to enhance its services and increase its value for you and our many clients. Throughout our 33 years of business we have improved efficiencies to contain costs, invested in training and standards to expand our capabilities, and streamlined processes to reduce turnaround time. Just this month, we added a second dew point calibration system to increase capacity, offer redundancy, and minimize delays for this unique service. And, while no laboratory can provide every service to every client, CATLab has just taken a significant step in that direction.

The team at CATLab is excited to announce that we are now part of the Trescal family of calibration laboratories. With more than 160 labs in 26 countries, including 26 throughout North America, Trescal is the global leader in calibration services, offering an array of industries a single-source for measurement, repair and asset management across the globe.

Now that Trescal has acquired 100% of CATLab shares, what does this mean for you? First, let me assure you of what stays the same. You'll see the same leadership, the same technicians, the same pricing and dependable service you've become accustomed to in working with our Virginia and North Carolina labs. We will remain 'CATLab' with the same administrative team, accreditation, accounting procedures and commitment to customer service. As a part of Trescal however, CATLab will offer the breadth of scope of a global organization while providing the same personal attention from our local staff and management. Our resources are greater, our repair capabilities expanded, and our scope of accredited services are significantly broader. In short, you'll have the same reliable team with the backing and resources of the worldwide leader in this industry.

We look forward to discussing some of our new capabilities and other benefits with you soon. In the meantime, rest assured that your day-to-day experience with CATLab remains unchanged. We look forward to our continued partnership with you as we do each of our friends and clients. Please don't hesitate to let us know if you have any questions. Call us at 877-4CATLab or email me directly at mwatson@CATLab.net.

We thank you for the opportunity to be of service.

Respectfully yours,
